Swiss Red Cross Delegates

International Cooperation
Swiss Red Cross Delegates

General information

The Swiss Red Cross (SRC) provides humanitarian assistance abroad after natural disasters and in conflict situations and commits itself to longer-term health-care programs as part of development cooperation projects. Projects and programs in Africa, Asia, eastern Europe and South America are run in close cooperation with partners (national Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies and local NGOs).

The need for delegates is limited as local resources are called upon in the first instance. Missions are carried out in a team and are in all cases accompanied by a mandate to train local partners and employees. They therefore require a solid basic level of training and extensive professional experience in the appropriate specialized field.

The work of SRC specialists is carried out in the following institutional framework:

- Self-contained SRC programs with local partner organizations, in particular in reconstruction and development cooperation
- For the International Federation of Red Cross & Red Crescent Societies in disaster management programs and in development cooperation work
Type of mission

Humanitarian relief
- Disaster relief
- Help for refugees and displaced persons
- Fighting poverty
- Disaster Risk Reduction

Reconstruction/rehabilitation
- Reconstruction in health, housing and training sectors
- Support for social services in educational and health sectors
- Medical-technical programs

Development Cooperation
- Primary Healthcare (curative/preventive)
- Stabilization of public healthcare services at intermediate level
- Eye care
- Blood transfusion service
- Organizational development of National Red Cross Societies
- Improvement of income
Professions employed

In its programs the SRC employs specialists in the following sectors:

- Doctors
- Nursing staff (with additional training/specialty)
- Coordinators with broad professional experience and management skills
- Finance specialists
- Logistics specialists
- Construction engineers/Foremen/Architects
- Water/sanitation engineers

Requirements

A broad range of stringent requirements are placed on SRC delegates in accordance with the varied and difficult tasks they are to carry out.

Only candidates who satisfy the following minimal requirements can be recruited for missions:

- Professional training:
  - federally recognized medical degree, preferably specialized in public health
  - nursing qualification, preferably specialized in midwifery or public health nursing
  - academic degree (e.g. economics, ethnology, sociology, public health, etc.)
- several years of professional experience in development cooperation or humanitarian assistance
- overseas experience in Third World countries or disaster areas
- excellent language skills in English and/or French
- Tact, empathy, willingness to accept foreign values and cultures, diplomacy
- good condition of physical and mental health
- ability to adapt to difficult situations and to work under pressure
Duration and location of mission
Missions are mainly to countries in eastern Europe, Africa and Asia. The duration of the mission may vary depending on the nature of the project.

- Humanitarian relief: between 1 and 3 months
- Reconstruction: between 3 and 12 months
- IC: between 12 and 24 months

Terms of employment
In addition to a reasonable salary (paid in Switzerland), the SRC offers delegates the opportunity for comprehensive insurance coverage and an occupational pension scheme.

The SRC also provides adequate accommodation on site. Please note that your family may not be able to accompany you to certain countries.
